

Part 2 Findings

The form did not let me submit it without filling out every required field. Instead, Safari prompted me to “Fill out this field” on the next blank required field.

All of the required field were spoken as “Required”. Only the first radio button was denoted as required. The speaking software only gave info on the max words rather than both max and min.